ADVANCING HUNS
Compel the British to Withdraw From Ypres—The Situation Along the Other Front Remains Unchanged
The advance of the Germans in the last few days on the northern side of the salient created by their drive in Flanders, and particularly the capture of Kemmel hill, have rendered it more difficult for the British to maintain their position on the front before Ypres, as high ground to the south as well as to the northeast now is in possession of the Germans. It has been expected that if the Allies did not recapture Kemmel hill they would execute Ypres.
Huns Capture Town But Are Driven Out by Counter Attacks
London, April 28.—The Germans made an attack yesterday afternoon on the northern side of the Flanders salient and captured the town of Voormezele, two miles south of Ypres, but were driven out last night by a counter attack, the war office announces. Late at night the Germans again attacked on this front.

HUNGRY THIEF
Relieved an East End Gentleman's Refrigerator of all Its Contents Except the Ice and Lard.
Some fellows haven't any feeling for anyone save themselves. Saturday night a Fifth Ward gentleman loaded up his refrigerator with good things to eat for his Sunday breakfast, he intending to spend that day in the country and only preparing for the one meal.
The refrigerator was on the back porch, but as he had loaded it up on numerous occasions before and everything went well, he had no thoughts as to the unsafety of his Sunday breakfast this time.
When he went to get his delicacies for his early morning repast he found that some "friend" had a tooth for the same breakfast and just happened around about the time that the "getting was good," and he "got" it.
Of course, the Fifth Warder only said thanks! Come again!
Had it not been for the splendid corps of neighbors it is more than likely that he would have been compelled to take to the sticks on an empty stomach.
And now he sleeps with the refrigerator inside the house behind good strong locks.

PATRIOTIC MEETING
At the Opera House Last Night Attended by a Monster Crowd.
Jammed from pit to dome, the Washington Opera House last night was the scene of one of the most interesting patriotic meetings ever held in this city.
It was a fitting farewell to those young men who left this morning for Camp Taylor, to take up the training to fit them for service with the big army in France, and showed that the entire population of this city and county is back of them in good wishes and anything else they may desire.
As the meeting was planned and carried out by the Mason County Council of National Defense and the Exemption Board, Judge A. M. J. Trench presided and the talk he made in introducing the main speaker of the evening fully repaid the large audience.
The Judge then introduced the main speaker of the evening, Mr. Edgar H. Hager of Ashland, who then made one of those high class talks that he is noted for. Mr. Hager among other figures of speech, marched the German army through Maysville and he stated that only his gray hairs kept him from going over and dragging in the Kaiser.

The musical numbers consisting of a quartet, composed of Dr. P. G. Smoot, J. Harry Richardson, Carl Dodds and Dr. Barbour, and a solo by Mrs. Courtlandt Pollitt were beautifully rendered and greatly enjoyed by the audience.
Judge C. D. Newell on behalf of the citizens of Mason county made an interesting talk to the boys selected, expressing the appreciation and the high regard Mason county held for the soldiers fighting and sacrificing for her in the service.
Mr. James B. Wood presented the boys with testaments.
The twenty-two of recruits who go to Camp Taylor are as follows:
Roy Tully,
Michael J. McCarthy,
Harold H. Brooks,
Cornelius Schatzmann,
Joseph Malone,
Robert L. Smit,
Harry D. Wallingford,
Paul Wiggins,
Carlisle Osborne,
Samuel Yazell,
Clarence Cordrey,
John H. Orme,
George W. Hunt,
John Larkins.

Joseph H. Winder,
Edward Breeze,
Thomas Field,
Cooper Devaughn,
John Sorrels,
William T. Sears,
Oliver Greenlee, Jr.
They left this morning over the C. & O. on train No. 5, and there was a large crowd at the station to bid them goodbye and God speed.
The sixteen men who are to report Wednesday will leave Thursday morning for Ft. Thomas.
INSANE MAN BECOMES UNMANNABLE
James Stephenson, a resident of Owensville, Bath county, asked the police force here Sunday afternoon to take in custody for safe keeping his kinsman, Herman Goodpastor, who is violently insane.
Goodpastor, who resides in Owensville became mentally unbalanced a few weeks ago and wandered to Marion, Ind. His kinsman James Stephenson undertook to bring him home, but Goodpastor became unmanageable and Stephenson had to take him off the train and turn him over to the police here until the proper officials from Owensville arrive to take him in charge.

The John Deere Corn Drill
This is a new and up to date drill with double disc openers. It is equipped with the Deere edge-selection drop and has new tip-over hopper, exactly like the New Deere Corn Planter. The seed plates are driven by a set of strong bevel gears and pinions.
There are three rows of teeth on the drive wheel, giving three drilling distances for each seed plate. The drive wheel is built with an improved form of traction lug, lugs being extended on each side of rim of wheel, so as to secure a good grip on the ground and at the same time be self-cleaning.
Disc openers are shaped with a double curve so as to offer the least resistance in opening a furrow. They are provided with ample bearings, which are readily oiled.
Polished steel counter covers are used. These are provided with a number of holes to secure the desired slant to cover properly under varying conditions.
An adjustable gauge or pressure wheel with concave rim can be furnished on special order at additional price.
The seeding mechanism is thrown in and out of gear by means of a hand-lever on right handle-grip.

Foeh Saves Reserves for Critical Moment
With the French Army in France, April 27, (Saturday).—The stern opposition encountered by the Germans in their attacks in the region of the Somme and in Flanders, near Kemmel hill, has prevented them thus far from developing their renewed offensive on the great scale which they undoubtedly intended. Each of their attacks may be regarded as an effort to prepare the way for a more extended action in the event of an important initial success at either point, but the resistance offered at both places apparently discouraged the German commanders from launching more serious attempts to break through.
In Picardy where the Germans attempted to divide the French from the British around Villers-Bretonneux and Hangard, the line remained today very much the same as it was before the attack was begun three days ago.
There has been no resumption of infantry fighting since last night. The only result of the Germans' onslaught, in which they utilized eight divisions, is the loss of a large number of men, without any advance and certainly without obtaining a jumping off place for the hoped for real attack they had planned to make if successful. The Allied commander in chief, decided, when the Germans occupied Villers-Bretonneux and Hangard, that their continued possession by the enemy would endanger the security of the line in front of Amiens, and immediately sent forces with orders to recapture them. The attacks at these points were executed with the greatest courage and success.
Further north, where the Germans gained Kemmel Hill by the employment of nine divisions, the Allied commander in chief regarded it as unnecessary to make the sacrifices which would have been entailed in regaining the lost territory since it is not essential to maintenance of the Allied positions. In this way, the Allied reserves are spared intact for future use. Meanwhile, the Germans are using up large numbers of their effectives without obtaining the important objectives which they aimed. There is confidence among the Allies in the ability to hold the Germans wherever they choose to make a stand.

WHILE WILSON TRAILS ALONG

"Blame for the suffrage delay in the Senate rests entirely upon the Democrats," declares Miss Doris Stevens, of New York, legislative chairman of the National Woman's Party.

"Only six Republican Senators are definitely opposed to the federal suffrage amendment. Twenty-two Democratic senators are still declaring they will vote 'No' on the measure. Those two facts tell the whole story of the Senate suffrage situation.

"More than two-thirds of the Republicans stand already pledged," she continued, "and only half of the Democrats, yet a Democratic Senate leader yesterday naively said to me, 'It is up to the Republicans; we have done all we can; when the Republicans give you enough votes to pass it we will bring it up!'"

"The implication of this suggestion is certainly very flattering! What is more the Republicans are accepting the opportunity of liberal leadership handed to them by the Democrats and are making their support of the measure evident to the progressive men and women of the nation.

"Five Republican Senators including Floor Leader Gallinger have recently made speeches demanding action in the Senate, reports are coming in from women in various parts of the country who have talked with Chairman Hayes of the National Republican Committee that he is doing and will do everything in his power for the immediate passage of the amendment; the Republican convention of North Carolina recently passed resolutions urging Republican members for the good of their party to do everything they could for it; the state senate of Rhode Island which last week passed a resolution calling on Senator Gerry to support the amendment is, of course, Republican."

Complimenting the Administration on its eleventh hour repentance evidenced by the appointment of Charles M. Schwab to be director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, the Washington Post ingeniously remarks: "Some men in authority are so constituted that they cannot bear the thought of sharing responsibility with strong men, for fear that their own abilities may be overshadowed." One guess as to whom the Post meant.

Great Wheat Stocks Isolated.

It's the shortage in ships that is putting the Allies and the United States on wheat rations. Great stocks of wheat are isolated in India, and Australia. At great sacrifice in ship space and use the Allies are forced to secure some wheat from Argentina.

On January 1, Australia had stored 100,000,000 bushels of wheat that was ready for export—but there were no ships. Then came the new crop with an exportable surplus of 80,000,000 bushels. Now Australia has approximately 180,000,000 bushels waiting for ships.

India, at the same time, had 70,000,000 bushels of wheat stored for export. During April 50,000,000 bushels more out of the new crop will be added to the pile.

Argentina closed the last shipping season with 11,000,000 bushels of wheat left in the stock available for export. The new crop will add 135,000,000 to the left over.

It is not a problem that the world does not exist in the world—it is entirely a problem of shipping, which has thrown on America the obligation of dividing our stock with the Allies.

ALLIED FOOD SHIPMENTS REACH LARGE TOTAL

A general idea of the quantity of food sent to European allies by the United States from July 1, 1914, to January 1, 1918, is given by figures just announced by the U. S. Food Administration. In that period the United States has furnished complete yearly rations for 57,100,833 people. In addition there was enough extra protein to supply this portion of the diet for 22,194,570 additional men.

The total export of wheat and wheat flour to the three principal allies is equivalent to about 834,000,000 bushels. Pork exports for the 3 1/2 years amounted to almost 2,000,000,000 pounds. Exports of fresh beef totaled 443,484,400 pounds. The amount of food exported to Russia is negligible compared with that sent to the western allies.

"On your side are boundless supplies of men, food, and material; on this side a boundless demand for their help."

"Our men are war-weary and their nerves have been strained by more than three years of hard, relentless toil."

"Our position is critical, particularly until the next harvest, but the United States can save us."

"You Americans have the men, the skill, and the material to save the allied cause."

***** WIN WITH POTATOES *****

The enemy is out-enticing us in potatoes—out-potating us. Here are the figures—per capita weekly consumption:

United States . . . . . 2.3 quarts

Austria-Hungary . . . . . 8 quarts

Germany . . . . . 16 quarts

We can beat them at their own food—which really isn't theirs; it's a native American crop. "We must eat more potatoes," says the Department of Agriculture, and that right soon, or much of our record crop of last year will be wasted. Potatoes are plentiful and getting cheaper. Eat them instead of bread. Fight the enemy with potatoes.

THE MAN WHO DELIVERS THE GOODS

There's a man in the world who is never turned down. Wherever he chances to stray; He gets the glad hand in the populous town, Or out where the farmers make hay; He's greeted with pleasure on deserts of sand, And deep in the aisles of the woods; Wherever he is there's the welcome hand— He's the man who delivers the goods.

The failures of life all around and complain. The gods haven't treated them white. They're lost their umbrellas whenever there's rain. And they haven't their lanterns at night.

Men tire of the failures who fill with their sighs. The air of their own neighborhood; There is one who is greeted with love lighted eyes—

He's the man who delivers the goods.

One fellow is lazy and watches the clock. And waits for the whistle to blow. And one has a hammer with which he will knock, And one tells a story of woe.

And one if requested to travel a mile, Will measure the perches and rods; But one does his stint with a whistle or smile—

He's the man who delivers the goods.

One man is afraid he'll labor too hard. The world isn't yearning for such; And one man is always alert, on his guard, Lest he put in a minute too much;

And one has a grouch or a temper that's bad, And one is a creature of moods; So it's me for the joyous and rollicking lad—

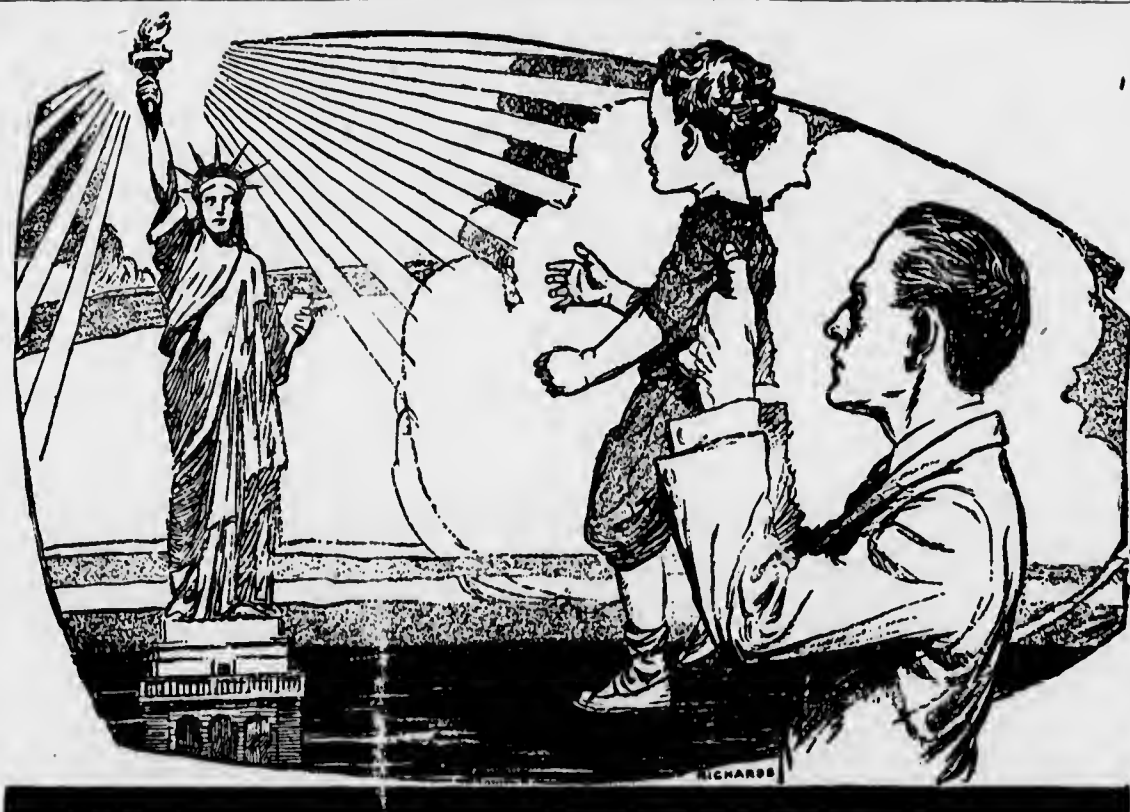

For the one who delivers the goods.

Mr. Fleming, constable of Mason County, 217 East Lee Street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years, getting them at Wood & Son's Drug Store, and they have been of great benefit. At times, my kidneys have been out of order and I have suffered from a dull, constant ache through the small of my back. The kidney secretions have been irregular in passage, too. A box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to relieve me of the complaint in a short time."

Mr. Fleming is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mr. Fleming had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60c a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. "When Your Back Itches—Remember the Name."

budget with which to partially defray the cost of the services of an expert city planner to survey the city and make recommendations with regard to the community's future growth. A civic center; a zoning system; parks and playgrounds; river front improvement and canal terminal facilities; better transportation service, both steam and electric, to include a dual street transportation system providing an easy flow of traffic for both light and heavy vehicles are some of the features which are to be incorporated in the plan.

The committee in charge will decide within a few weeks upon one of the most prominent city planners in the country to draw the plans.

Give Your Little Ones An Interest in the Future

They are your hold on the future, and America is fighting to make their future safe. They are too little to realize this now—but some day must learn to reverence the traditions of America, the ideals of America, the great cause for which the men of their father's day gave their lives.

Be ready then to put in their hands bonds of their government. They will be for them inspiring evidence that their fathers planned sacrificed and invested for their sons' future. Liberty Bonds will mean more to them than money. They will make them proud of the fathers who in America's day of great need proved themselves true American patriots.

What Will You Do for Those Fathers Over There Like "Cav"?

(Here is a letter from Frank W. Cavanaugh, the old Dartmouth football coach, who is now a lieutenant in the American artillery in France. It is written to his six-year-old son. It tells nothing of the horrors of war, but it breathes the spirit of the man who left wife and little ones to fight the Hun that their home might be safe for them even if he never came back to it. Though written in rare simplicity to the little son, the heart in it speaks to the mother, too. This is the letter, which was first printed in the Worcester (Mass.) Post. But it deserves the fullest and widest publicity and we reprint it.)

Dear David Boy:

Your good mother writes me that you have a chum, and she says he is a fine boy who lives next door.

Isn't that fine? I wish I had a chum. You and your mother used to be my chums, and sometimes Joe and Billy and even dear little Rose Marie and Phil, too, when he was home, but now that is all changed and I have no chum in all the world.

I think it's rather sad sometimes, don't you, but I have your picture, which I take down and talk to when I am lonesome.

I am happy to know you like your new school and home, and I'm sure you'll only play with clean boys, who don't do anything very bad and who also like to go to school. Didn't we used to have great times together, and wasn't it fun when you'd come up to the car to meet me? Then when you saw me getting off do you remember how you'd hide behind a tree and run up behind me and scare me after I had passed? And do you remember how sometimes you and I would race and you were getting so you could run pretty fast, for you were getting to be a big boy?

And then we'd all go down to see the circus and the parade and hold hands so we wouldn't get separated or lost. And then Christmas? Oh, wasn't that a wonderful day! Early in the morning how we would all rush downstairs to see your presents. And then poor, tired mother would work and work to give all you boys and girls a Christmas dinner—turkey, cranberry sauce and dressing, and plum pudding, and candy and nuts, and everything. Oh, David, did any little boy ever have such a good mother as you.

I wonder! And now you are soon to have another Christmas, and old Cav won't be home. But I want you to have the best time you ever had on that day, so that I may be happy over here thinking of you all. I wish I knew some little boys and girls over here so that I might talk to them and hold their hands, and I would call them my boys' and girls' names and pretend that I was home.

The other night I had a lovely dream, and I was so disappointed when I awoke. I dreamt I was sitting in our kitchen with mother and David and all the children, and a chair which was tilted back against the wall split and I fell gently and without hurting me to the floor. And then mother and you and all the children laughed and laughed, just like good naughty folks. And you came over and took my hand in yours and lifted me up easily. Isn't that funny? Dave? Think of any boy lifting a big, fat father like me from the floor with one hand! Then we laughed some more, and suddenly I remembered it was after 9 o'clock. I said: "Why, children, what are you doing out of bed at this hour of the night?" And you said: "Why, it isn't very often our father goes away to war, so we thought we ought to stay up to say good-by." And then I was so surprised to learn that I hadn't gone away to war yet, that I suddenly awoke only to find myself in my little lonely barracks, and the rain was coming down hard outside, and I was lonesome for my dear family.

And now, David, old boy, everyone is in bed but me, trying to get lots of strength and health for the big fight we will soon be in, so I must do likewise and end this letter to you. You must always remember that your father came into this great war for the sake of all little children, and I know that you will, while I am gone, take good care of mother and all the children. I can see you growing up tall and straight, with shoulders back and head up, because that's what old "Cav" wants, and you love "Cav," don't you, David boy? Dave, will you do something real nice for me? I know you would. Then kiss mother and Annie and Billy, Rose Marie, and John for "Cav," and send one to Philip in Maine.

Excuse me, David, for writing in pencil instead of ink, but ink is hard to get.

The lights are going out in a few minutes, so good night, goodby, Dave, and God bless you.

From your old man, CAV.

It's to keep men like Cav as comfortable as we can; it's to keep men like Cav well supplied with guns and ammunition; it's to show men like Cav that the folk back home have not forgotten him and are willing in the way that they can to approach the secret he is keeping that we are being asked to buy Liberty Bonds. Can any of us buy enough of them to make our bit worthy of mention in the same breath with the sacrifice of Cav?

LOAFERS IN WAR TIME

(By Edward Mott Woolley)

One reads a good deal in the newspapers about the scarcity of labor, and we hear serious predictions concerning the difficulty farmers will have in planting and harvesting their crops, yet in traveling about the country—and in recent months I have covered the United States from coast to coast—I have observed large numbers of men who seemed to have no occupation at all. In my own part of the country, the region adjacent to New York, I believe that many thousands of men are practically loafing. I am informed in certain factory towns that a considerable per cent of young and able-bodied men are living on the earnings of their wives and women relatives—and in some instances on the money brought home by their mothers. Work has been so plentiful for women in these industrial centers that this class of men consider it unnecessary to do any labor themselves; or at least they prefer to do as little as possible.

I have often stood in front of the motion picture theaters along about five o'clock in the afternoon, watching the outgoing throngs of people, and have been amazed at the large proportion of young men who apparently are in sound physical condition. The other day I asked a municipal official in a large industrial community how it happened that these young men were able to spend the whole afternoon in a picture show when we were reading continually about a labor shortage.

"The shortage would be less acute," he answered, "if something could be done to make these men work. This community is full of men who are idle by preference, and the money they spend at the picture theaters and elsewhere is earned by the toil of women who work long hours in the factories. It's a burning disgrace that this sort of thing should exist; and it will be more than a disgrace if these men are not made to work during the summer on the farm, where labor will be so much in demand."

Now I do not cite this situation with any intention of advocating the conscription of labor at the present time. I don't pretend to say whether such a law would be feasible or not. I do say that some sort of census ought to be taken in every such community, giving a reasonably accurate idea as to the number of men who are shirking the responsibilities of this great war crisis. Then, having ascertained the facts, every moral influence should be brought to bear—

If no legal steps could be taken—to make them useful in the new emergency confronting us.

Moreover, I have made it my task to observe the employees in a large number of confectionery and soda stores, and have found that hundreds of young and husky men are doing work that ought to be done at a time like this, by women. I have often wondered what was going on in these fellows' heads as they skipped around in white aprons making milk-shakes and serving chocolate frappes.

What we need in this country especially, is realization of the fact that we are at war, and that every man ought to be spending at least part of his time in the cause.

As I look at it, this problem of getting men where they can do the most service is partly a matter of local community patriotism. A great deal can be done to wake men up by the local press, churches, public gatherings and societies and by the creation of that subtle thing known as community spirit. The class of men I have been talking about ought to be shamed into doing things more worthwhile. The ought to be dragged into the line!

A WORD TO MOTORISTS

In using their passenger cars this season there are several ways in which motorists can serve the common cause. Driving at conservative speeds will reduce the wear and tear on the roads, which are now so essential for inter-city freight hauling by motor trucks. Incidentally, when you meet motor trucks remember the great part they are playing in helping out the railroads and give them the right of way. Because of scarcity of labor and high cost of materials, country highways and city streets, especially the former, are not being maintained as they should. This coupled with the heavy motor haulage, will soon have the roads in bad condition, which will tend to make touring less desirable. Conservative driving will also save tires and fuel, to the benefit of your pocketbook. Quick starting and stopping is not only hard on the car, but hard on the road surface also. Giving a "lift" to the workman on foot whom you meet may increase the output that day of some munition factory. It is the manipulation of these little things that means so much in our national effort. And to the average motorist many other things will occur where—by material help can be extended, while he or she is gaining health and recreation or saving time and otherwise promoting efficiency through traveling by motor car.

We've passed the limit already.

It's no longer a question of justice to teachers, but of preservation of schools.

Preparedness is more important than preparedness to keep schools going—we're headed toward woeful unpreparedness.

Extreme measures must be taken not for teachers' sake, but for children's sake and democracy's sake!

Entirely practical next steps include:

1. The rewards of teaching—training in self-discovery, leadership, determination and community sense, social contact, opportunity for advancement in other vocations—can be attractively presented to groups and strong individuals in elementary and high schools and colleges, not once but several times this term.

2. Why not teach first? can be submitted for Why teach? in vocational talks—mobility of teachers must be encouraged.

3. The joys of successful teaching can permeate the atmosphere in teacher-training schools.

4. High schools and colleges, and stronger private schools, can refuse to take teachers who have not taught in grades—state supported secondary and higher schools might profitably be forbidden to take any teachers not so qualified.

5. Salary increases for grades can be furthered by superintendents and supervisors through campaigns and other publicity. Pale, anaemic, whining pusycraft arguments for higher grade salaries no longer "co."

Threats unmistakable are being thundered and flashed by conditions.

A nation-wide drive is needed and no other work which schools and colleges can do is so necessary or so easy for them to do—not to do this aggressively and convincingly is to give comfort and aid to democracy's worst enemies, ignorance and incompetence.

OLDEST LIVING WOMAN

(Chicago Journal)

In the city of Posen, in the German province of the same name, the oldest woman in the world is about to enter upon the one hundred and thirty-fourth year of her life, unless death has overtaken her since the receipt of the latest news from that part of Europe. She is Frau Gretchen Dinkler, who, and she spent practically all her life in Posen. She was a young woman when Napoleon and his legions swept like a conflagration over Europe, and has lived to see a similar catastrophe engulf almost the entire civilized world. Frederick the Great was still alive when Frau Dinkler was born, and only a few years before Napoleon had gone to his long rest. The German empire of today was then an aggregation of petty, warring states, and the American union had just been born out of the travail of revolution. Three centuries—the eighteenth, the nineteenth and the twentieth—this woman has seen, and within the compass of her lifetime a new civilization has sprung up in Europe and America, a civilization now in the balance and threatened by the land which gave her birth.

What boards pay, and what teachers will take, we have learned to ask. What, in terms of pay, grade teaching is worth we have not tried yet to figure.

Now that inexperienced, ignorant and incompetent immigrant girls from southern cotton fields or Balkan mountains can earn and save more as maids, waitresses or factory workers than can expensively trained, experienced and highly competent grade teachers in our schools we must either (1) go without grade teachers, (2) lower our standards of grade teaching, (3) conscript ablest teachers for grades, or (4) greatly increase grade teachers' pay!

Increasing high school and college teachers' or supervisory salaries does not remove the peril—we must start at the bottom and work up.

The increase needed is not a paltry 10 or 25 per cent. either, but 66 and 75 and 100 and 200 per cent. for grade teachers.

Of three ways of avoiding these great increases—and for almost twice as many teachers for all city grades, too—the only endurable American way is conscription. We can't close school, or lower its standards.

What's grade teaching worth anyway to our kind of democracy?

Red Cross memberships and gifts, Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamp purchases are urged upon underpaid grade teachers by government appeals, financiers, society leaders, and editors. And teachers buy and give and propagate patriotically.

If there's enough left over for the movies these same teachers read that their recent pupils are being urged by Uncle Sam to go to Washington as stenographers at hundreds of dollars above the local medium for ablest teachers; while on government "cost plus ten per cent." contracts seventeen-year-old boys may earn more than experienced teachers' annuities.

How long can we keep this up?

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

FORMER PASTOR DIES IN SOUTH

News of the death of Rev. W. F. Taylor at St. Petersburg, Fla., has been received here. Dr. Taylor was a retired Methodist minister and usually spent the winters at St. Petersburg. He was taken ill at the hotel and removed to a hospital in that city a few weeks ago.

He was 76 years of age, and possibly the oldest minister in the Kentucky Conference. The Rev. Mr. Taylor was pastor of the First M. E. Church, South, here for several years and served at many of the leading churches in the State. He married Miss Mollie Price, daughter of Mrs. Cassandra Price, of Jessamine county, who died several years ago.

The body was taken to Nicholasville and the funeral took place at the Methodist Church this morning. Burial was made in Maple Grove cemetery.

Amsterdam—"The people who wish to destroy us are digging their own graves," said Emperor William, as quoted in an interview by Karl Mosner which the Hunsdorf Anzeiger publishes. The Emperor, who was commenting on the large amount subscribed to the new war loan, said further:

"Our victories in the field and the victories of the Germans at home must make those over yonder realize that we cannot be subdued by arms and economic isolation."

MEMORIAL SERVICE

For Leslie Herndon Arthur to be held next Sunday afternoon at the Maysville High School.

A memorial service will be held at the Maysville High School next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, for Leslie Herndon Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Arthur and at the same time a memorial tablet that has been placed in the school building will be unveiled. The tablet bears the inscription

LESLIE HERNDON ARTHUR

This young patriot was badly wounded while in action on the battlefield in France and later died in a hospital. He had been an enlisted soldier just one year when he passed away and was the first from this county to lay down his life for his country, and this memorial service is a fitting testimony to the high esteem the citizens of this county hold for his flag and country.

The address will be delivered by Mr. William D. Cochran of this city, who has patriotically given his time and talents to both the Government and people in a manner that shows he is one of the big fellows behind the big guns.

The following program has been arranged for this occasion:

Invocation—Rev. W. J. Loos.
Song—"Star-Spangled Banner."
Song—"Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Dodds, Dr. John Barbour, Mr. Carl Dodds.
Song—Quintette.
Address—Hon. W. D. Cochran.
Unveiling of Memorial Tablet—Phoebe Arthur Ellis.
Song—"America."

A large number from this city will attend.

WHERE ARE THE FLAGS?

No Lack of Patriotism, But It Does Seem That the "Banners Should Be Kept to the Breeze."

At the beginning of the war the good people of this city were requested to make a patriotic display of Old Glory, and the response was very gratifying, in fact almost universal.

For some time the enthusiasm continued away above fever heat, the profuse display of flags being commented on by traveling men in their visits here as the largest they had seen of any town its size visited by them.

But one by one they disappeared, and now only a few remain, and most of the few are soiled and weather worn.

It does not necessarily imply a lack of patriotism upon the part of those whose homes and places of business are not decorated with the colors, but it does seem as if they should make a more generous display than is now done.

Let's have another flag day for our beloved and beautiful city and make such a big display that the boys who will leave shortly will know that their home town showed them the honor of making a sure enough display of our national colors.

Let every flagstaff on the large buildings that are carrying no flags have as large and bright one as can be gotten, and at all the private homes hang out their colors and rekindle that enthusiasm that was so conspicuous at the outbreak of hostilities.

Is there anything prettier or more inspiring than the United States flag?

Then let's all see to it that, even if we cannot buy bonds or war stamps or have no boy to send, our flags are put out to encourage those who can do these things, in order that they may feel that they should do more.

Hang out Old Glory!

KNIGHT-McLELLAN WEDDINGS

The following item is taken from the Louisville Courier-Journal of Saturday:

Following the Liberty day celebration at the Anchorage Presbyterian church last night, Lieut. Thomas J. Knight and Miss Elsie McLeellan were married by the Rev. Jesse M. Cotton. The church was decorated in American flags. Lieut. Knight, of the 342d Field Artillery, is stationed at Camp Funston, and came to Louisville Thursday to claim his bride.

Instead of using a diamond ring in the ceremony, Lieut. Knight presented his wife with two $100 Liberty bonds.

Lieut. Knight and Mrs. Knight will leave today for Camp Funston, where the young officer reports for duty next Tuesday.

The groom was a widely known young lawyer, active in civic affairs prior to entering the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. L. A. McLeellan and was prominent in society.

Lieut. Knight, who is well known in this city, is a son of Mrs. Eva Knight of Sharpsburg and a brother of Mrs. Woodson H. Taulbee of this city.

SADNESS

A feeling of intense sadness seems to pervade the very atmosphere of our little village since April 4, when the death angel visited the home of Mrs. Ida McDonald and claimed a precious jewel. Edna was 22 years and six months of age. She leaves to mourn her loss a mother, her father preceded her to the grave twenty years ago. She also leaves five aunts and four uncles, one of her aunts being Mrs. T. P. Degman, of Springdale, with whom she made her home.

At the early age of thirteen years Edna gave her heart to God and united with the Christian Church at Bethlehem, her uncle T. P. Degman being the pastor at the time. She always tried to follow in the footsteps of the blessed Master, impressing those with whom she came in contact that it was good to serve the Lord, through her gentle manner and kindness to all who met. Edna was a patient sufferer, never complaining, always happy. She enjoyed life, always looking on the bright side of everything. Heartfelt is our sympathy for this family, especially her mother and Aunt Mary Degman, she and her mother being almost inseparable companions.

On January 1 Mrs. McDonald took Edna to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Liddle Jinks, at Homer, Ill., hoping it would benefit her health, but with all that could be done she grew worse, returning home March 24. Edna is with us no more but for her life is not in vain and to those who mourn her loss we would commend for consolation to Him who said, "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live."

Her sweet soul has gone to Heaven, to sit upon a throne;
She has gone to dwell with angels,
yet she leaves a saddened home,
But there's a home up in Heaven
where all is bright and fair,
God's promise we should remember,
and strive to meet little Edna there.

Leonard Refrigerators

Take This Opportunity to Learn All About Refrigerators

Come and let us tell you all the advantages of the famous Leonard Cleanable. The four points on which every refrigerator should be judged.

1. The refrigerator must be designed so there will be proper circulation of air.
2. It must have a lining that is clean and sanitary—one that is easy to keep clean.
3. The insulation must be as nearly perfect as possible. This means the inside must be protected from the outside temperature like a thermos bottle.
4. The workmanship and material must be the very best possible.

Leonard Refrigerator has many porcelain linings, snowy porcelain lining; the scientific construction for air circulation; the air tight locks, making the doors practically self-closing; the carefully constructed leak proof drainage system. Your dealer will tell you in greater detail what we are describing here. He will be glad to explain every point to you.
